UD HOSTS RELIGIOUS EDUCATION
TELECOMMUNICATIONS SYMPOSIUM

DAYTON, Ohio, September 7, 1983 -- The University of Dayton and the Center for Creative Ministry (MORES) will sponsor a Religious Education Telecommunications Symposium on September 8, 9, and 10, 1983 at the Bergamo Center, 4435 East Patterson Road. There will be 15 participants from various organizations throughout the country including television producers, script writers, directors, and other telecommunications experts.

The purpose of the symposium is to identify the meaning and future direction of quality religious programming and to prepare persons in ministry for the Catholic Church's involvement in telecommunications. Participants include representatives from the Catholic Television Network of America, United States Catholic Conference, National Catholic Education Association, National Conference of Diocesan Directors of Religious Education as well as diocesan communications directors from religious, education, Hispanic, and handicapped ministries. The symposium participants will assist the Catholic Church nationally in its discernment of telecommunications issues.

MORES - The Center for Creative Ministry at UD serves the Catholic Church and the community with programs and resources for the advancement of personal, social, and religious values.

Enclosed are a list of participants and the agenda for the symposium.
